

Narrative is about trouble and troubling – and how people respond to it.

"Trouble" might take the form of any of the following (or more):	Moments this year when you experienced any of this kind of "trouble" (e.g., When did you experience a surprise? When did you experience uncertainty? Etc.)
A surprise
A break in expectations
A change in status quo
An epiphany
Uncertainty
Ambiguity

Find trouble. Look before it

Prompt: What assumptions and expectations did you have that made any of these sorts of "trouble" seem like trouble to you? How did your expectations and assumptions slant the way you viewed the trouble?
